

4. The North Blenheim Covered Bridge

For many years this bridge carried all traffic along the main road running north in the Schoharie Valley.

The bridge is said to be the longest single span wooden bridge in America. It was built in by . With the reconstruction of Route 30, the covered bridge was preserved through the efforts of local historians.

