

8. Patria

The tiny settlement of Patria located in the highlands of the Schoharie Hills is now noted primarily for its picturesque cemetery.

A reading of the engraved stones which mark the last resting place of rugged pioneers proves to be a fascinating occupation for an hour or so.

From Patria the Long Path heads in an easterly direction, dropping down into the vicinity of Polly Hollow which for many years was the primary home of the Schoharie Slaughterers.

