

JOHNSBURG

NEW YORK

Hit the Slopes

Winter transforms Johnsburg's mountains, valleys, and lakes into a glittering wonderland of powdery snow, brisk air and bright blue skies. One of New York's premier ski areas, Gore Mountain's four peaks are host to 110 trails and one of the largest vertical drops in the east, offering skiers and riders options to suit all ability levels. Johnsburg's two Nordic centers provide cross-country skiers with groomed, lighted trails, and connect to additional miles of gorgeous, well-designed backcountry trails on state land.

North Creek

The Town of Johnsburg is home to seven hamlets, with North Creek its largest and most visible. Snuggled along the Hudson River, North Creek's quaint Main Street offers shopping, dining, and lodging, and is the perfect jumping off spot to explore the Adirondacks. Make your way to the intersection of Main and Route 28N to discover Tannery Pond Community Center, one of the town's greatest treasures. Visit the Center's Widlund Gallery to take in local art exhibits, or attend one of the many concerts and events held year-round. Top off your North Creek stay with a trip to the historic Depot Museum to see where Theodore Roosevelt learned he would become President.

Happy Trails

Home to the Siamese Ponds Wilderness Area, Johnsburg's 70-plus miles of marked trails provide hikers an authentic Adirondack wilderness experience. Crane and Peaked Mountains offer challenging climbs and stunning views of the High Peaks without the crowds, or stick with flatter terrain and trek to one of Johnsburg's spectacular backcountry ponds, many of which provide waterside lean-tos for hikers interested in an overnight adventure.

Go with the Flow

From leisurely downstream floats to adrenaline-pumping thrill rides through the rapids, the Hudson River as it flows through the Town of Johnsburg offers the best in whitewater rafting. A ride on the river brings rafters through the awe-inspiring beauty of the Adirondack wilderness, with forest and mountain views that can only be seen from the water. Several local rafting companies provide licensed guides and equipment and offer trips in various lengths from two hours to two days.

Ridge Rider

If off-road riding is your thing, there's no place like Johnsburg's Ski Bowl park to test the limits of your cycling abilities. This destination park has been professionally carved into the rugged Adirondack terrain and features a combination of multi-use and dedicated mountain bike trails providing single- and double-track, switchbacks, challenging climbs and thrilling descents.
