Local Law No. 3 of the year 20 03

A local law Providing for Imposition of Probation Department Administrative Fees
Upon Conviction Under Article 31 of the New York State Vehicle and Traffic Law

Be it enacted by the Board of Supervisors of the County

~~City~~ of Warren as follows:
~~Town~~
~~Village~~

SECTION 1. Title. This Local Law shall be known as, "A Local Law Providing for Imposition of Probation Department Administrative Fees Upon Conviction Under Article 31 of the New York State Vehicle and Traffic Law".

SECTION 2. Legislative Intent and Purpose. It is the intent of this local law to establish a fee for the supervision of persons sentenced to or currently serving a term of probation for the offenses of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol or drugs. The purpose of this local law is two fold - to help defray administrative costs of the probation department and for further deterrence of any violation of Article 31 of the New York State Vehicle and Traffic Law.

SECTION 3. Authority. This Local Law is enacted under the authority of Section 257-c of the Executive Law of the State of New York.

SECTION 4. Imposition of Probation Department Administrative Fees Upon Conviction Under Article 31 of the New York State Vehicle and Traffic Law.

- a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any person currently serving or who shall be sentenced to a period of probation upon conviction of any crime under Article 31 of the New York State

(If additional space is needed, attach pages the same size as this sheet, and number each.)

Vehicle and Traffic Law and who is being supervised by the Warren County Probation Department shall pay to said Department an administrative fee of Thirty Dollars ($30.00) per month, except as provided in subdivision (b) of this section. See Exhibit A annexed hereto for the fee schedule.

- b) The Warren County Department of Probation shall waive all or part of the fee imposed by subdivision (a) of this section where, because of the indigence of the offender, the payment of said fee would work an unreasonable hardship on the person convicted, on his or her immediate family, or on any other person who is dependent upon such person for financial support.
- c) The fee authorized by this local law shall not constitute nor be imposed as a condition of probation.
- d) Monies collected pursuant to this local law shall be utilized for probation services by the Warren County Probation Department and shall not be considered in determining state aid reimbursement used to match federal funds otherwise utilized for probation services. Said fees shall be paid directly to the Warren County Probation Department pursuant to Subdivision 6 of Section 420.10 of the New York State Criminal Procedure Law.
- e) In the event of non-payment of any fees which have not been waived by the Warren County Probation Department, the provisions of Subdivision 6 of Section 420.10 of the Criminal Procedure Law shall govern for purposes of collection of such fees, and in addition thereto the County may seek to enforce payment in any other manner permitted by law for enforcement of a debt.

SECTION 5. Separability and Saving Provision. If any provision of this Law adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction is to be invalid, to the extent possible, the remaining provisions of this Law shall remain unaffected thereby and shall remain in full force and effect.

SECTION 6. Effective Date. This Local Law shall be effective immediately upon filing with the Secretary of State as provided by Law.

MA Program Overview

The M.A. program serves students who want to work or are currently working in the criminal justice system, as well as those who may want to go on to a Ph.D. program.

The degree provides research and statistical skills that allow students to appreciate, design and evaluate effective policy and practice. Students learn about the structure of the criminal justice system and the nature of successful crime prevention programs.

Students in the M.A. program may complete a formal concentration in criminal justice information technology through courses focused on the collection, protection, storage, manipulation, interpretation, and communication of data. They also have the option to pursue a joint M.A./M.S.W. degree or a degree with a concentration in public administration.

The School enjoys successful partnerships with the New York City Police Department, the New York State Police and the Japanese National Police. Employees of these organizations join our M.A. program every year.

Introduction to statistical techniques appropriate for use in the criminal justice field. Descriptive statistics; scales of measurement; measure of central tendency, variability, and association. Introduction to statistical inference including sampling distributions and tests of significance.

CRJ 505 Research Design in Criminal Justice (3)

This course provides an introduction to methods of research used in criminal justice and social sciences. Major topics include the logic of social inquiry, causality, and conceptualization; sampling theory; data collection and measurement; and research design. The primary objectives of this course are: 1) to help students be informed consumers of contemporary criminal justice research and 2) to enable students to initiate and execute worthwhile research projects of their own.

CRJ 507 Theories of Crime (3)

Theories of crime causation ranging through biological, psychological, sociological, cultural, and political theories, giving close attention to the problems inherent in approaching the study of crime from a "causes of crime" perspective. Developed around key concepts used in theories of crime (e.g., responsibility, rationality), emphasizing the multidisciplinary source of these concepts, how they are changed when applied to criminological theory, and their importance for understanding the present state of criminological theory.

CRJ 540 Theoretical Foundations of Criminal Justice (3)

This course introduces students to theoretical work on criminal justice process and policy, from multiple disciplinary perspectives. Topics discussed include theoretical approaches to studying individual, organizational, system, and political behavior. Emphasis is placed on the practical utilization of theory to inform development of research problems and agendas.

CRJ 560 Introduction to Individual and Organizational Interventions (3)

Important general theories, methods of analysis, and techniques of planned change; interventions with individuals and organizations; deliberate efforts to introduce and encourage planned change with criminal justice clients and employees and criminal justice organizations; selected models and strategies used by change agents and the resultant dilemmas that must be confronted.

CRJ 561 Introduction to Community Intervention (3)

Important theories, methods of analysis and techniques employed in changing communities; deliberate efforts to involve criminal justice organizations and programs in community change; community organizing for the prevention of crime; selected models and strategies used by change agents and the resultant dilemmas that must be confronted.

CRJ 592 Data Utilization in Criminal Justice I (3)

This course will teach the basics of quantitative data file construction, cleaning, documentation, and use. This is a hands-on computer course where students will learn proper techniques for managing simple datasets. They will also learn how to use SPSS for data management and documentation. Students will apply their technical skills to major criminal justice data collections to learn how the technical and substantive skills are complementary.

CRJ 601 Crime, Deviation, and Conformity (3)

Crime and criminal behavior is viewed as one of many forms of deviation from political, moral, and conduct norms of the majority culture. Studies the parallel genesis of crime and other prevalent forms of deviance, and the relationship between some forms of deviance (such as mental illness and political extremism) and some forms of criminality. Studies the forces that produce conformity, and indirectly promote deviation.

CRJ 602 Psychological Factors of Crime (3)

Survey of psychological and social typologies of offenders which relate to understanding or prediction of crime. Rationale, theories, procedures, areas of criminological application, and implications for research. Comparison of classification schemes in terms of discrepant and overlapping concerns and in terms of implications for prevention and rehabilitation. Individual student projects include development of a research design involving a classification system.

CRJ 603 Structural Factors in Crime (3)

Introduction to major theories of how social and organizational contexts influence criminal behavior. Both theoretical development and empirical methods for evaluating models of structural factors are emphasized.

CRJ 604 Gender and Crime in American Culture (3)

Drawing from criminal justice research, gender studies, social history, and popular culture, this course examines the nexus between gender and crime in American culture. The role of gender expectations in shaping the behaviors of victims and offenders and societal/criminal justice system responses will be explored.

CRJ 605 Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crime (3)

Examines the meaning of the concept of juvenile delinquency as a separable entity in the system of criminal justice. Considers the relationship between social attitudes and definitions of youthful law violation, and reviews studies on various forms of delinquency, such as auto theft, vagrancy, and sex delinquency. Also analyzes the diverse theoretical interpretation of delinquency including subcultural theories, ideas about distinct lower-class focal concerns, and views about delinquency and drift.

CRJ 606 Measure of Crime and Delinquency (3)

Describes the amount, distribution, and pattern of crime. Analyzes the Uniform Crime Reports, results of the National Crime Panel Victimization, self-reporting inventories of crime and delinquency, and considers correlates of these alternative measures of illegal activity. Selected topics are emphasized depending on currently available data.

CRJ 607 Theories of Crime (3)

Theories of crime causation ranging through biological, psychological, sociological, cultural, and political theories, giving close attention to the problems inherent in approaching the study of crime from a "causes of crime" perspective. Developed around key concepts used in theories of crime (e.g., responsibility, rationality), emphasizing the multidisciplinary source of these concepts, how they are changed when applied to criminological theory, and their importance for understanding the present state of criminological theory.

CRJ 608 Ideology and Crime (3)

The nature of ideology; the relevance of a wide range of political theories to the exploration of crime; the comparative influence of various ideologies upon criminological research; the paradigmatic view of science in relation to research in criminal justice; the problem of objectivity; the problem of progress; the role of the criminologist as researcher and practitioner; an introduction to the ideology of law.
