Rail Bike Operation to Start this Summer out of North Creek Station

April 25, 2016

North Creek, NY - Renegade Railriders is pleased to announce that they are partnering with the Saratoga & North Creek Railway to operate recreational rail bikes this summer out of North Creek. "We are really excited to launch this exceptionally fun family activity and open up a stretch of track that hasn't been accessible to the general public for decades." said Robert Harte of Renegade Railriders.

Harte, along with partner Gustaf Kamp, began Renegade Railriders with the desire to have people experience the rails in the Adirondack High Peaks in a completely different way. Gus has loved exploring the rails and nature since he was a young boy and believes rail biking provides a great opportunity for people of all abilities to experience railroading and the outdoors from a fascinating perspective. "We took a test run last week and we were cruising down the Boreas (River) and I looked at Rob and said that our riders are going to be amazed."

Renegade Railrider customers will begin their journey on a school bus converted to ride the railway from North Creek deep into the woods near Moose Pond Club Road. Once there, our riders will strap into the comfortable seats of a sleek, new Renegade Railrider. These rail bikes are not the first to be designed or built in America – that has occurred since the 1880's - yet Gus and co-designer David Young have revolutionized them for the unique needs of the North American rail market.

Two guides will escort the riders down from the confluence of Vanderwacker Creek and the Boreas River, eventually gliding across the railway's Hudson River bridge. This leisurely ride on the tracks weaves through the pristine forests of Essex and Hamilton Counties without leaving a trace. The all-rail tour is three hours of backwoods adventure from start to finish.

"Basically, the run is all downhill with incredible natural vistas," says Harte, "and when you travel over the Hudson River trestle for the first time and see the river stretch out in both directions for miles into the mountains it feels like you're in a fairytale."

Renegade Railriders expects to begin tours in late June and will run through late October as weather permits. "We are confident the whole experience from start to finish is something that people will never forget." said Kamp.
