5- Russ B.

The figure consists of seven small, numbered line drawings arranged horizontally. They illustrate the developmental stages of a larva. Stage 1 is a simple oval egg. Stage 2 shows a small, rounded body with a distinct head. Stage 3 shows a more elongated body with a head and a small tail. Stage 4 shows a body with a head, a segmented midsection, and a tail. Stage 5 shows a more complex body with a head, a segmented midsection, and a tail. Stage 6 shows a body with a head, a segmented midsection, and a tail. Stage 7 shows a body with a head, a segmented midsection, and a tail.
